

Orientation to AHE Learning Collaborative and Overview of AHE Roadmap

Marshall Chin, MD, MPH

AHE Co-Director

*Richard Parrillo Family Professor of Healthcare Ethics in the Department of Medicine
University of Chicago Medicine and Biological Sciences*

Marshall H. Chin, M.D., M.P.H., is the Richard Parrillo Family Professor of Healthcare Ethics in the Department of Medicine at the University of Chicago and Co-Director of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Advancing Health Equity: Leading Care, Payment, and Systems Transformation National Program Office.

Dr. Chin is a practicing general internist and health services researcher who has dedicated his career to reducing health disparities through interventions at individual, organizational, community, and policy levels. Through Advancing Health Equity he collaborates with teams of state Medicaid agencies, Medicaid-managed care organizations, frontline healthcare organizations, and communities to develop and implement payment reforms to support and incentivize care transformations that advance health equity.

Dr. Chin co-chairs the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services Health Care Payment Learning and Action Network Health Equity Advisory Team. He also applies ethical principles to reforms to reduce health disparities, discussions about a culture of equity, and what it means for health professionals to care and advocate for their patients. Dr. Chin is a former President of the Society of General Internal Medicine and was elected to the National Academy of Medicine in 2017.

Scott Cook, PhD

AHE Co-Director

Quality Improvement and Care Transformation Strategist

Department of Diversity, Inclusion and Equity

University of Chicago Medicine and Biological Sciences

Dr. Cook is a clinical psychologist experienced in providing integrated behavioral health services in primary care clinics and hospitals serving diverse and resilient urban and rural populations. He received his masters and doctoral degrees from the University of Missouri-Columbia. He completed his internship at Cook County Stroger Hospital, the major public hospital in Chicago.

Scott worked for eight years in leadership and clinical roles in research, behavioral health, youth services, and community services at Howard Brown Health, serving the diverse LGBTQIA+ communities of Chicago. He was the deputy director of Finding Answers, a national program of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, a faculty member for the Taking Action on Overuse Fellowship program, and serves on the FamiliesUSA Health Equity Task Force.

He works at UChicago Medicine in quality improvement and organizational development roles to eliminate health inequities. He also partners with his teammates to advance the organization's equity, diversity, and inclusion innovation agenda. Dr. Cook is a founding co-chair of the University of Chicago LGBT+ Resource Group, a recipient of the University's Diversity Leadership Award and has volunteered in multiple capacities in community organizations, including serving eight years in various leadership positions as a board member of TPAN.
